National School Bus Safety Week Reminds Drivers: Always Stop for School Buses to Protect Children

Campbell, Ca. – This National School Bus Safety Week (October 16-20), Campbell Police Department supports efforts to keep children and caregivers safe by reminding drivers of the dangers of passing a stopped school bus. Drivers must come to a complete stop when a school bus stop-arm is extended and the red lights are flashing.

Held annually during the third week of October, National School Bus Safety Week is a way for parents, children, teachers, bus drivers, school administrators and law enforcement to promote traveling to and from school by bus as a safe transportation option.

While riding the bus is the safest way for children to get to and from school, an alarming number of drivers illegally pass school buses who have their red lights activated. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), from 2000-2021, there were 53 deaths in crashes that involved a driver illegally passing a stopped school bus. Almost half of those deaths (25) were pedestrians 18 years old or younger.

With few exceptions, California law requires drivers to stop in both directions when a school bus has flashing red lights on. Drivers must stop until the red lights are off, and children are on or off the bus and safely out of the road.

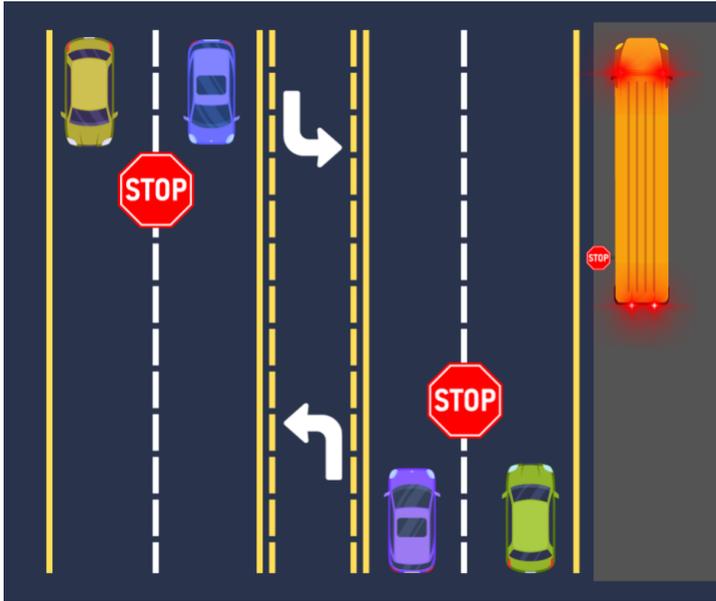

"National School Bus Safety Week serves as a reminder that ensuring safety on the road is a community wide effort," Campbell Police Chief, Gary Berg said. "Let's all stay attentive in our efforts to protect our children, by stopping for school buses and coming together to improve the safety of every journey to school."
